Anthony Roth Costanzo is my guest this week. He is currently starring in the title role of the Philip Glass opera, Akhnaten at LA Opera. Today is our final performance, but the chance to sit with this fine gentleman arose, so I grabbed it. He's insightful, kind, funny and very candid. I've really enjoyed listening to him perform this most challenging role, and I'm glad to have gained a bit of insight into what makes this fellow tick. I hope you enjoy the chat as much as I did- cheers!
